NEW YEAR. NEW TASK.

Welcome to the first edition of 1997.

This year is a particularly important one for the British Nationalist community as it is General Election year. Most, if not all of our Nationalist parties, will be fielding candidates and a supreme effort will be needed by all Nationalists as the election gets nearer. One point we feel the need to emphasize is that whenever Nationalist candidates stand for election, out of the woodwork crawl all manner of creatures from the left, intent not in putting their own odious policies to the democratic test, but just intent in harassing Nationalist candidates. There are laws to prevent interference during an election and we urge all Nationalist election agents to familiarize themselves with electoral law (Representation of the Peoples Act). Nationalists should not hesitate to report to the police and their local returning officers any attempts at interference by the political parasites of the left.

GOVERNMENT HYPOCRISY

During my mandatory period of National Service I became severely "anti-gun". Months of carrying a rifle about everywhere, hours lying often soaking wet on bleak rifle ranges and hours more afterwards spent cleaning the thing did enough to persuade me that I never wanted to see another gun in my life! But the Government's recent decision to ban most types of handguns is the most blatant piece of daft legislation that I have seen for many years. Hundreds of previously law abiding gun owners will overnight become outlaws for harbouring their prized weapons and what will be achieved? Criminals will still obtain illegal weapons, scores of children will continue to die each year, slaughtered by car drivers. Yet thousands of Britons will be forced to abandon a hobby that they have enjoyed for years. I have no doubt that if pistol shooting was a sport dominated by certain ethnic minorities or members of a certain religion, then there would be no ban. Also, will the ban work? Certain types of drugs have been banned for years, yet still they are freely available on the street corners of our major cities. Certain categories of immigrants and economic refugees have been declared illegal but still they flood into Britain every year. Will the new law work? Is it supposed to work? Or is it just another example of establishment parties vying for votes?

CONGRATULATIONS.

I never in my wildest dreams ever expected to agree with the Jewish Labour MP, Gerald Kaufman, on anything. But I must offer my congratulations on his vociferous demands that the War Crimes Act be scrapped. It was his co-religionists that were the driving force in establishing this legislation, not for the sake of justice, but for revenge. Therefore, instead of appealing to the Crown Prosecution Service and the Attorney General to abandon any more "show trials", they may have planned for the future. Kaufman would be better stating his case in the real corridors of power.

My congratulations also to Mr Szymon Serafinowicz for the dignified way he conducted himself throughout these proceedings and hope that his recovery from Alzheimer's disease is as swift and complete as that of the former Guinness chairman, Ernest Saunders.

"Rights For Whites" Victory as ..

White Family Win "Race Hate" Legal Battle Against Council.

A White family living in the East London borough of Tower Hamlets has won a historic victory against their Socialist-controlled council, who refused to re-house them despite their suffering a campaign of racial hate at the hands of Asian thugs.

The White family had appealed to Tower Hamlets council for an urgent housing transfer in July 1995 on the grounds that they were being subjected to an ongoing campaign of racial hatred and harassment conducted by a gang of Asian thugs.

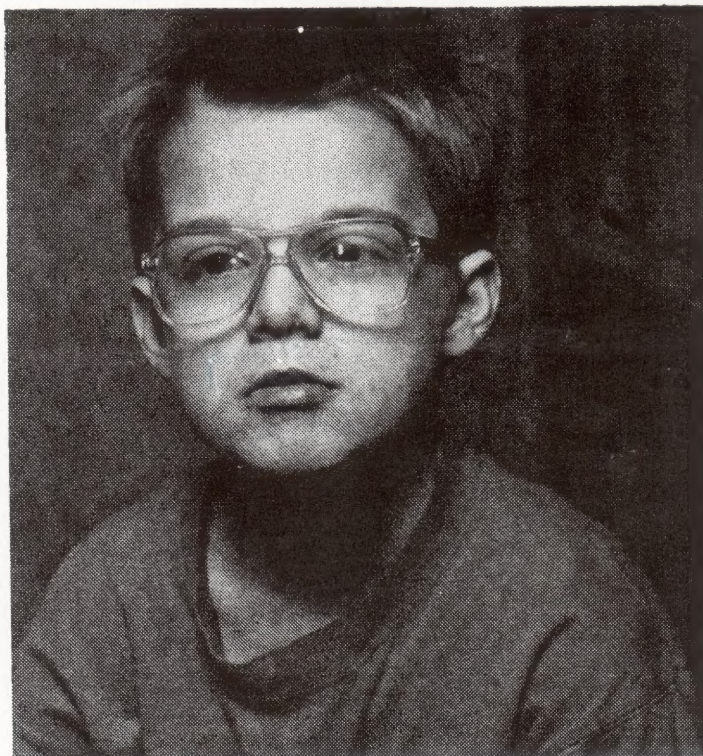

The council refused to treat their case as urgent and even refused to mount a full investigation of their complaints. Under the borough's housing regulations, tenants found to be racially abusing neighbours are liable to eviction from council housing but, seemingly in Tower Hamlets, this policy didn't apply if the harassers were Asian and the victims White.

The High Court heard evidence that the White family, Mr Raymond Bradford, his disabled wife, Anita, and their 11 year old son Simon, had over several years been subjected to a campaign of racial harassment which included repeated vandalism, the daubing of their front door with the words "White Trash" and life threatening arson attacks.

Eleven year old Simon, the court was told, had been taunted over his mothers disability, bullied at his local Asian dominated school, threatened with violence and actually physically assaulted by Asian neighbours.

The Judge, Mr Justice Kay, described the race hate campaign as "horrific" and criticised the council's lack of sympathy towards the family. The Judge ruled that the council had acted unlawfully in failing to assist the family in obtaining safe refuge and ordered them to re-assess the family's case.

A council spokesman refused to comment when questioned by League Sentinel as to why the council were not taking steps to evict those committing the harassment of the Bradford family, and whether or not these rules only applied if the harassers were White!.

Race Hate victim, Simon Bradford.

The eleven-year old and his family were harassed by Asian thugs and ignored by their Labour council, because they were White!

General Election Announced.

The Battle For

After months of speculation, the date of the next General Election has finally been decided and Britain's voters will at last go to the polls on May 1st. League Sentinel takes this opportunity to publish the latest news from Britain's Nationalist parties and their plans for the forthcoming "Battle for Britain".

NATIONAL DEMOCRATS

The National Democrats have announced they intend contesting at least 20 constituencies but at the time of us going to print only 15 candidates had been named.

In four constituencies, Dagenham, Derby South, Leicester West and Stoke on Trent South, National Democrat candidates will be standing against those from the British National Party.

As the National Democrats were not formed at the time of the last General Election they still have to establish themselves in the eyes of the electorate. In December of last year a ND candidate contested the Merseyside West Euro by-election, polling 718 votes (1.5%) coming fifth out of six candidates. The turnout on the day was only 11%.

The National Democrats will field two experienced women candidates, Sharon Edwards, contesting Notts South, and Tina Wingfield contesting Blackburn.

The National Democrats can be contacted via...
The Secretary. P.O. Box 2269, London. E6 3RF.

THE NATIONAL FRONT

The National Front will contest no more than six or seven seats in the forthcoming Election. Since the split, which gave birth to the National Democrats, the NF have had to start almost from scratch. The party has concentrated in re-building its infrastructure and recruiting new members and all available finance has been utilised to this end. "We have plenty of members wishing to become candidates and good quality candidates at that but, unfortunately, we can only devote sufficient finance to a few constituencies" an NF spokesman told League Sentinel.

The NF have also made a conscious decision to avoid entering candidates in constituencies where there are other Nationalist candidates standing to avoid splitting the Nationalist vote.

Likely NF constituencies are...

Beckenham, Bromley & Chislehurst, Walsall North, Dudley North, Hayes & Harlington and Lewisham-Depford. This last constituency could be the most fruitful for the NF as they polled over 8% in local council elections not too long ago.

The National Front can be contacted via...
The Secretary. P.O. Box 274, Hemel Hempstead.

Britain Begins.

BRITISH NATIONAL PARTY

The British National Party announced they intend standing at least fifty candidates throughout the country thus qualifying for television broadcasting time.

At the time of us going to press not all of the candidates had been announced.

BNP leader, John Tyndall, has changed from Dagenham, Essex, where he polled over 5% to retain his deposit and is now contesting the East London seat of Poplar and Canning Town.

Trouble from undemocratic left-wing extremists is expected in Erith and Thamesmead, this constituency being close to the area where Black teenager, Steven Lawrence, was killed, allegedly by White youths. Another likely flashpoint is Holborn & St Pancras. This seat is just a stone's throw from the home of White racial murder victim, Richard Everett, who was stabbed to death by Asian thugs. Feelings in the area are still running very high.

Only two women candidates have so far been named. The formidable Linda Cooper contesting East Ham and the veteran Patriot, Lady Jane Birdwood, contesting Dewsbury. Whether Lady Jane eventually does succeed in contesting this important seat is still in doubt as she has been in very poor health recently.

Edinburgh and Glasgow Govan both have BNP candidates who will almost certainly be facing candidates from the Scottish National Party. The South Wales, Cardiff constituency will be contested by Welsh speaking, David Jones, who hopes to take votes from the pseudo-Nationalist, Plaid Cymru.

Despite trying to widen their appeal, East London still seems to be the most fruitful area for the BNP if local council by-election results are any indication. In the most recent election, BNP candidate, Michael Davidson, polled 7.3% of the vote in a Newham ward which has a White population of only 37%!

British Culture and Heritage. All targets for destruction by the establishment parties.

The League of St George appeals to all our members and subscribers to put aside individual party differences and give as much help and support to Nationalist candidates in your area.

All of the established parties are committed to destroying our traditions, our culture and our race!

The Socialists will hand control of Britain over to communist dominated Trade Unions. The Tories will give control to unelected European Bureaucrats.

All the major parties have a common aim of allowing more and more immigrants into Britain.

It is only the candidates of the National Front, The British National Party and the National Democrats, who are determined to fight for Britain and its people.

Remember, we have a sacred pledge. "We must secure the existence of our people and a future for white children"

FRANCE

Front National Victory in Southern France

The FRONT NATIONAL overcame a well organised cross-party campaign of opposition, to sweep to victory in the municipal elections held in the Southern French town of Vitrolles recently.

The victorious FN candidate, Catherine Megret, polled 53% of the vote, defeating the sitting Socialist Mayor by 800 votes.

Mrs Megret, the wife of FN Euro MP, Bruno Megret, had no previous experience in politics and described herself as "a typical French housewife". Her honesty and openness, combined with promises to end sleaze and corruption in local government, appeal to the French electorate.

Violence erupted at the count when the result was announced, with Immigrant supporters of the Socialist party trying to attack FN supporters.

The Vitrolles victory gives the FN control in four Southern French towns, Toulon, Orange and Marignane.

Fifty-one percent of all French adults support the policies of FRONT NATIONAL, according to an opinion poll published by the left-wing newspaper, Liberation, recently.

FRONT NATIONAL have achieved much of their success by challenging the established left parties for the support of the working class.

The FN have established their own Trade Unions for transport workers and the police, thus winning workers away from the communist dominated unions. They have also set up soup kitchens in major cities to demonstrate to the homeless and unemployed that the FN are concerned about all French people.

Frustrated communists who tried to attack one of the FN's soup kitchens outside a Paris station were badly injured by a combined force of homeless people and young men from the FN's youth organisation, FN Jeunesse.

Top Right: Mme Megret celebrates her victory in the traditional way.

GERMANY

New Controls on Immigrants Announced.

The German government, frightened at the rise of support for Nationalist candidates, has introduced several new measures which they hope will help to stem the tide of economic immigrants flooding into Germany. All children of immigrants now have to apply for permission to stay in Germany even if they were born there.

Michael Glos, of the Bavarian, Christian Social Union, said, "Germany must not become a multi-cultural society. Also, it is unacceptable that millions of our citizens are unemployed, whilst more than a millions work permits were being issued to foreigners every year".

AUSTRIA

Nationalists Gain In Austrian Euro Elections

The Austrian nationalist Freedom Party scored its biggest ever electoral success recently, winning more than 27 per cent of the vote in polls for the European Parliament.

The Freedom Party, led by the charismatic, Joerg Haider, campaigned against further European integration and proposed strong measures to deter economic refugees from flooding into Austria from other European countries. Since joining the EEC, some two years ago, Austria has become a target for disillusioned German "guest workers" seeking better jobs or social benefits.

The 27.6% share of the vote far exceeded the Freedom Party's target of 25% and even exceeded the 26% attained in Austria's last General Election of December 1995.

The result gives the Freedom Party six seats in the new European Parliament and the Freedom Party are widely expected to join the Nationalistic "Conservative Bloc" in the Parliament, which includes, the Front National, Vlaams Blok and Ulster Loyalist MEP's.

FLANDERS

VLAAMS BLOK HOLD FAMILY CONGRESS.

The Flemish nationalist party, Vlaams Blok, emphasised its commitment to the family by turning its annual congress into a family weekend.

The event was held in a holiday village on the Belgian coast and concentrated on the theme "Get Flanders back to work."

Whilst delegates listened to speeches from party leaders and MPs, hundreds of wives and children made full use of the holiday village facilities which included a heated indoor swimming pool.

A small group of Belgian Socialists attempted to disrupt the Congress by holding a march and demonstration but were prevented from doing so by the local Police.

Vlaams Blok. A party of the family.

GREECE

The Greek Nationalist party, Golden Dawn, now has established offices in 13 Greek cities, as well as producing a weekly newspaper and running a small Nationalist radio station.

The party is completely legal and is expected to be a major influence in the next General Elections.

Golden Dawn is National Socialist orientated and welcomes contact with other European Nationalist groups. Contact can be made by writing to:

IS IT TIME TO BAN

Despite Media Pressure

WAR CRIMES TRIAL COLLAPSES.

Trial by a judge and jury has been the backbone of the British legal system since Magna Carta was signed by King John in 1215 and the system has stood this nation in good stead ever since. Ever since, that is, until recently, when certain elements of the British media decided to usurp justice and appoint themselves judge and jury.

Despite an intensive campaign by the British media, Szymon Serafinowicz, an eighty-six year old man accused of murdering Jews in wartime Poland, was sensationally freed by an Old Bailey judge after the jury decided that justice would not be served by continuing the case.

Britain's first war-crimes trial collapsed after just eight days, costing the British taxpayer an estimated £4 million in legal costs.

The War Crimes Act came on the statute books in 1991 following a mass-media campaign organised by various Jewish groups and was dubbed "the Jewish Law of Revenge" by its many critics.

It was recognised from its inception that charges would be difficult to prove in court owing to the vast time lapse since the alleged crimes were committed but, despite warnings from eminent members of the legal profession, the government spent an estimated £14 million on investigating alleged crimes committed in Soviet controlled Europe 50 years ago.

The first victim selected for a "show trial" was Szymon Serafinowicz, an 86 year old retired carpenter living in Surrey.

Mr Serafinowicz had fled from Soviet occupied Poland after the war and sought refuge in Britain as he was an active anti-communist who had fought against the Russians and now feared their revenge.

Mr Serafinowicz, married with two children, had been working in a flour mill when the Russians invaded Poland. He received an early demonstration of communist terror when his wife's entire family were deported to Siberia as "enemies of the state".

Like many thousands of fellow Poles, Mr Serafinowicz welcomed the German liberation forces in 1941, particularly as the German authorities promised independence for his beloved Byelorussia in return for suppressing the murderous gangs of communist terrorists that were attacking the liberation forces.

He joined the local Police force and engaged in several successful actions against communist terrorists.

After the war, in 1946, he was interviewed by Allied war crimes investigators, court-martialled, and cleared of all charges.

When in 1991, his name was brought to the attention of British police officers investigating alleged war-crimes under the new act, they were advised that because of his advanced age and, as he was suffering from a form of Alzheimer's disease, which causes memory loss and confusion, a successful prosecution would be unlikely. Despite these warnings, the police and the Crown Prosecution Service succumbed to pressure from the media and Jewish groups intent on revenge. They proceeded with a trial that they had not the least chance of winning.

Throughout the trial, the British media behaved intolerably, invading the privacy of Mr Serafinowicz and his family and taking steps to clearly identify their home addresses. Their biased reporting of the case sometimes came very close to sub-judice as they tried to influence public opinion.

It is now time for new legislation to force newspaper editors to accept that their job is to report legal decisions, not to make them!

Szymon Serafinowicz. Victim of Media Trial

TRIAL BY MEDIA ?

DAILY MAIL PLAYS JUDGE AND JURY IN STEPHEN LAWRENCE CASE!

The once respected British newspaper, the Daily Mail, created new parameters of media interference in the British legal system when earlier this year the newspaper used its considerable financial muscle to publicly accuse several men of racial murder, despite the fact that they had all been previously acquitted in TWO court cases of any involvement.

Despite the legal position, on Friday February 14th, the Daily Mail formally appointed itself as judge and jury and publicly accused five young White men of being responsible for the alleged racial murder of a Black youth, Stephen Lawrence.

The Daily Mail also took the highly irregular step of publishing photographs of the men it accused along with enough personal information, for anybody intent on causing the men harm to easily be able to trace their home addresses. A tactic previously exploited only by members of the extreme-left "gutter press" such as Searchlight magazine.

Along with this accusation, the Mail publicly challenged the men to sue the newspaper, an act of bravado some might think. But given the fantastically high costs of pursuing defamation cases in this country it was more akin to the behaviour of a bully. All of the men accused by the newspaper are unemployed and live in a deprived area of London. The Daily Mail knew in advance that the men would have no chance of mounting a defamation case, especially as legal aid is excluded in such cases.

The reasoning behind the Mail's decision to elevate themselves above the British legal system is clouded in mystery. The Observer newspaper has suggested that the Mail had no real interest in the Lawrence campaign originally and that they had sent a reporter to cover the story from a hostile, rent-a-mob perspective.

But certainly the Mail's position has changed and the Observer suggests the reason could be a personal link between the Mail's editor, Paul Dacre, and Neville Lawrence, the father of the dead teenager.

We at League Sentinel are perhaps more cynical than the Observer. For we believe that the main purpose behind the Daily Mail's "Justice for Stephen Lawrence" campaign is really commercial. The Mail has created a story and then a campaign to go with it, which it hopes will sell lots more newspapers !

We believe that the Daily Mail has set a dangerous precedent and, if allowed to go unchallenged, it will do insurmountable damage to our legal system.

The only way now to resolve the problem is for defamation to be made a criminal offence, with stiff prison sentences for editors and newspaper owners found guilty.

Until then, the British media will continue to slide further into the mire of intolerance and injustice.

More victims of media "justice". These five men were condemned by the Daily Mail as murderers. Despite acquittal by a judge!

CENTRAL LONDON

The recent visit to Britain by Ezer Weizman, the President of Israel, was concluded by two large banquets as is the custom with State visits. The first, given by the Queen, was attended by 11 members of the Royal Family, but strangely absent was the Austrian-born, Princess Michael of Kent, who was said to be on a skiing holiday in Austria, although her husband, Prince Michael, did attend.

At the second banquet, a reciprocal event, hosted by Weizman at the London home of Lord Rothschild, both Prince and Princess Michael of Kent were missing, with Prince Michael said to have left Britain to join his wife and children on holiday in Salzburg.

Now what could be the real reason behind the Princess's absence for both events? Could it be a winter holiday, or was it felt that her presence could be embarrassing especially as her father, Baron Gunther von Reibnitz, joined the Nazi Party in 1931 and later became an officer in the SS ?

BRADFORD

The Labour MP for Bradford West, Max Madden, has long been a staunch advocate of a multi-racial Britain and has for years welcomed immigrants, mainly Asian, into his constituency with a fervour described by one local White resident as "grovelling". Both in the constituency and in Parliament, Madden has praised immigration as being good for Britain.

But times are changing, now Madden looks like he could soon be unemployed as he faces competition for his safe Labour seat from several Asian candidates. Now Madden, the champion of the poor Asians, is demanding a full enquiry into allegations that Muslims have formed themselves into a secret cartel, dedicated to ensuring victory for an Islamic candidate. Madden claims local Labour party members were being asked to vote according to country of origin or religion, which he felt was "undemocratic and offensive".

One local resident told League Sentinel, "I hope Madden loses the contest. It's a case of Max's chickens coming home to roost".

TIVIDALE

Local residents of Tividale, West Midlands, who have been campaigning against plans to build a Hindu Mosque on a seven-acre site in the town have been betrayed by our future King, HRH Prince Charles, who has given his support to the Mosque project and the Millenium Commission who have pledged over £3 million of National Lottery money towards the costs of building the Mosque.

Local residents wanted the former industrial site turned into a village green and wildlife sanctuary.

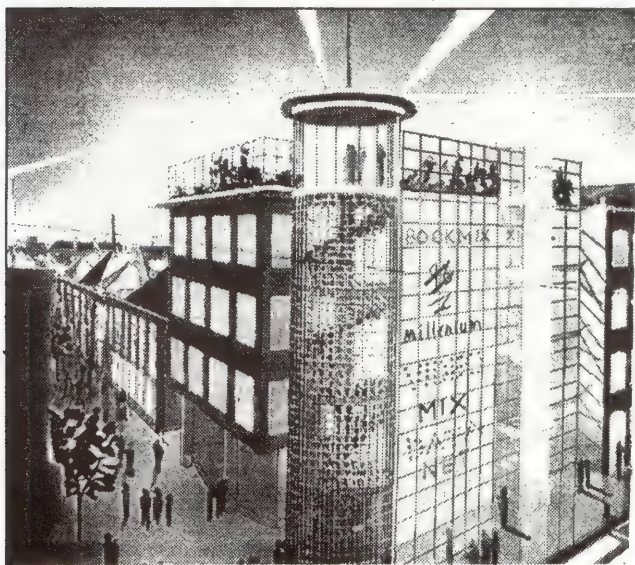

It came as no surprise to us that our future King and "Defender of the Faith", Prince Charles, supported plans for another Mosque in a British city.

NEWS AROUND BRITAIN

EAST LONDON

At election times, Tower Hamlets Labour council are quick to deny that immigrants are swamping the borough and claim that almost two-thirds of the borough's population are White. Yet now, the same council are considering changing the name, Bethnal Green, to Bangla Town, so as "to reflect the ethnic richness of the area"!

Another dotty scheme is to build a £12 million museum in the Spitafields area, "celebrating ethnic minorities". The museum would include a cinema showing ethnic films, along with a cybercafe. All this from a borough claiming to be one of the poorest in the country.

"Celebrating Ethnic Minorities".
East London's proposed "Rich Mix" ethnic centre.

Nationalist candidates standing in the Bethnal Green constituency might care to remind voters of the pro-Immigrant bias of the council. Somali groups were recently awarded council grants totalling £10,000.

The taxpayer's money will be going to deserving bodies such as, The London Black Women's Health Group, the Karin Housing Association, which provides low-rent housing exclusively for Somali's, and the Nur Islam Musical Group, which teaches and plays traditional Somali music!

BIRMINGHAM

Labour controlled Birmingham City Council have decided to spend £1.6 million of taxpayers money on opening an "Equality Unit". Predictably, an Asian has been selected as the head of the unit for which he will receive a salary of £53,000 per year. The Unit will employ a total of 19 staff.

All this from a council that has had to slash library and park services, making 300 workers redundant, in an effort to save some £48 million off of its budget.

Who says the looney-left has gone away?

MIDDLESBOROUGH

A White man has won his case of racial discrimination against Cleveland Equality council and the Campaign for Racial Equality (CRE) following a ruling by a Middlesborough Industrial Tribunal.

The White man, Peter Widlinski, was rejected for the £18,000 a year post of Racial Equality Officer, and the job was given instead to an Asian candidate, despite his being less well qualified than Mr Widlinski.

The Tribunal also ruled that officials from the Equality council and the CRE had lied to local MPs when they had raised Mr Widlinski's complaint.

DONCASTER

Taxpayers in Labour-controlled Doncaster have been amazed to discover that their looney-left councillors have been spending vast amounts of taxpayer's money on exotic foreign trips.

In one year Doncaster Labour councillors visited China, Japan, Hong Kong and the USA at taxpayer's expense, spending a total of £115,000.

The District Auditor, who checks council spending, also discovered that "New Labour" has definitely abandoned their old "beer and sandwiches" image. One restaurant bill for two councillors came to £284 including wine!

We hope to make NEWS AROUND BRITAIN a regular feature. So please send newscuttings of events in YOUR area!

OCCUPIED PALESTINE.

Bugged by Zionism

"There shall be no whore of the daughters of Israel nor a sodomite of the sons of Israel".

The Old Testament instruction from the Book of Deuteronomy served to deter the Jew from the Malthusian practices of his pagan predecessors. Le Vice contre nature has long been regarded by the Jew as an abomination. Whilst he dismissed the "unspeakable Turk" as a race of born pederasts, along with every other inhabitant of the Middle East. Israeli Zionists, with customary arrogance, practice a moral superiority with every kind of lie and slander against their Arab neighbours, citing their historical religious laws.

Israeli public opinion has been shocked recently by the criminal act of at least one Israeli soldier found guilty of the homosexual rape of two Palestinian youths.

Far from being a single isolated aberration, these outrages were committed between an interval of one week. For the horrendous offence of throwing stones, the seventeen year old Palestinian youths were arrested by Israeli soldiers and taken to the notorious military prison at Tulkarm; on the West Bank.

It was here that Zion Ohion, an Israeli father of six, used his authority as a guard to at first threaten a Palestinian called Ali and then proceeded to place a hood over his head while he was handcuffed. The Palestinian's trousers were then pulled down and he was forced to "crouch like a dog". Zion Ohion then sodomised him.

Another Palestinian youth called Jamal suffered the same outrage at the hands of Ohion one week later.

With strange irony, the Zionist secret police, Shin Bet, acted on complaints from the youths and duly arrested Ohion.

The Shin Bet are themselves notorious for using torture with the blessing of the Israeli Supreme Court. Ohion was found guilty by a military court and sentenced to eight years in prison with the Israeli government protesting that Ali had "exaggerated his distress" after being awarded £55,000 compensation. The other youth is suing for £1.5 million!

The imprisonment of Ohion was obviously an attempt to placate Palestinian opinion, a sort of burnt offering, even though the Israeli army has persistently denied any form of rape. This is more like the tip of the iceberg.

A spokesman for Al Hag, the Palestinian human rights group, stated, "We have heard of these things before. In our society it is considered a shameful thing for a man to talk about sexual abuse and this issue will not be mentioned openly. We also see testimonies from Palestinian women who talk about sexual abuse and harassment from their Israeli jailers; I personally know of at least eight to twelve recent cases."

The military judges who sentenced Ohion were concerned with "the great damage that has been done to the reputation of the Israeli army" even though the Israeli government resented being forced to pay compensation, even using their own lawyers to have the compensation reduced. The claim by the government that Ali had exaggerated his distress was contradicted by the military judges who stated that the youths "will be scarred for the rest of their lives". It is reported that neither can find employment, that they suffer with depression and insomnia. With constant military harassment who could rest easy after such an experience?

The judge's concern for the reputation of the Israeli army is merely the reaction of one party with an individual caught flagrante delicto. The attempt by the Israeli government to trivialise these episodes, however, can only erode the Zionist claim to moral superiority.

The Sodom myth of their Old Testament should serve to remind them of the consequences... brimstone from heaven?

Israeli Occupation troops are now using sexual abuse as a weapon.

New Labour. A Threat To Free Speech?

As we approach another General Election, with the strong likelihood of a Labour victory, it is time to take stock of one important consequence, particularly for those who pursue truth in the great revisionist debate. At Labour's last party conference a motion criminalising "denial of the holocaust" was passed unanimously.

Shadow Home Secretary, Jack Straw, whose connections with British Jewry are well known, had ensured this stage-managed victory for intolerance by an orchestrated media campaign leading up to the conference. Behind it all was another debate within the Jewish community on the consequences of such draconian laws, with not everyone in agreement.

On the very same day that Labour passed the "denial" motion, Michael Howard, the Home Secretary, was addressing an audience at a lunch at the Jewish Chronicle.

This inept lawyer had previously negotiated an opt-out from a European agreement to implement Holocaust denial legislation throughout the continent. He had the vocal backing of European Commissioner, Sir Leon Brittan, another refugee from Eastern Europe. At this lunch, Howard echoed a section of British Jewry which had long favoured the "ignore them and they may go away" school of thought by stating that criminalising Holocaust denial would turn defenders of free speech into defenders of "neo-nazis". His position, to say the least, was uncomfortable. Recent to this inauspicious nosh, Howard had failed to get to grips with the problem of the Islamic fundamentalist group, Hizb ut Tahrir, which had called for a holy war against Jews, from the hallowed halls of Britain's universities. His excuse was that such calls were directed at Israel and not Britain's Jews ... a distinction missed completely by the Zionists present.

The Labour Party, however, favours the Joseph Stalin school of free speech as the passing of their motion makes quite clear. It is no mere coincidence that one of their MPs, the president of the Holocaust Trust, is busy trying to get his hands on "holocaust gold" allegedly stashed away in Swiss banks. To outlaw any criticism of these historical claims would help very nicely. Looked at through this perspective, it becomes much clearer who was really behind the motion at the Labour conference.

Whether six million died, or how they died, in the camps of Central Europe during the second European war, is not the moral premise in this article. Freedom of speech is the defining motif of our national democracy. Legal limits on this freedom are enshrined in long-standing libel laws, without special preference to individuals or minorities. To state that all Holocaust denial leads to incitement to hatred of the Jews is not only absurd but could have the most unthinkable consequences. To suggest it is a form of anti-Jewish prejudice is an argument that would condemn much of English literature and it would lead to the banning of books because this or that group was "offended". If someone chooses not to believe in the resurrection of Christ, the leaders of the Christian churches do not throw their arms in the air. Those who would criminalise Holocaust denial are the bedfellows of the mullahs who proclaim the fatwah on Rushdie for the "blasphemy" of the Satanic Verses. Yet they condemn the mullahs for their intolerance ... but refuse to see the mirror image.

Holocaust revisionism has already entered mainstream scholarship and there are many historians, David Irving being one of many, who seek to put the calamity of the Jews in a proper historical perspective. If it was a genocide then it was one genocide among many. To give the Holocaust a uniqueness is to devalue the suffering of millions of other victims of war, of every nation.

The Tories think the Trade Unions control "new" Labour. We disagree!
